

Anchors Away

Go overboard with a chic nautical story this spring

Décor inspired by sea-side living is once more washing ashore and the fashion runways are also aflutter with sailor stripes. However, coastal style is being diverted from its traditional blue-and-white course to a natural and neutral palette of beige and grey. Blue accents while lovely are not obligatory. Rather, sea-inspired shapes and materials such as seashells, portholes, rope and linen anchor the style, and imbue it with versatility. With a neutral backdrop customers can easily be swayed to swap out nautical accessories for the next accents du jour come fall. ■
